

Painting Weekend Holiday Itinerary

I am Linda Halbert and now live in lovely Spanish countryside where I paint commissions and also hold art classes for both English and Spanish students.

The watercolour and oil painting holiday sessions take place in my art gallery /studio at the beautiful La Bodega Antigua near the town of Pinoso, Alicante.

No previous experience of art is necessary, although I guarantee you will return home with lovely paintings accomplished here during your holiday. Therefore, if you have always wanted to try painting why not start now?

There will only be 6 people attending each holiday session, so the groups are relaxed, friendly and everyone gets ample individual attention.

I have many years experience of teaching art to all age groups and have developed a unique style to make the techniques easy to understand and light hearted.

A typical day would look something like this:

Start the day at 10.30am, at the La Bodega Antigua art studio where I will demonstrate a gradual step by step painting for you to follow. There will be plenty of time for me to help everyone individually between each step.

You will have time for a lunch break of two hours from around 12noon so you can really relax and enjoy your lunch, which could be your own picnic sitting by the pool or in the pretty garden. Don't forget you can also take a refreshing dip in the pool! Alternatively, you could take a trip into Pinoso to sample a local Menu del Día.

Each afternoon we continue painting in the studio or on some days I like to do a field trip out into the stunning local countryside. This really depends on the weather and although it is normally dry, some days can be very hot.

Once again you will have all the individual help you need to enable you to create lovely paintings. Some of my past students thought they didn't have a creative bone in their body until they saw their achievements and have now continued to paint as a hobby. That always gives me great satisfaction.

We will break at approx 3.30pm for a drink and classes will resume at 4pm and continue until approx 5.30pm.
